

Self-taught contract: Tutor

The nature of the IB Language A: Literature SL Self-taught Language option requires that clarity is provided regarding the parameters of the course delivery to ensure that such a course of study provides an optimal learning environment for students. To this end, a number of expectations and recommendations have been set out below in order to ensure that all parties are fully aware of the expectations regarding the self-taught course of study. The expectations below should be seen as guidelines relating to the role of Struer Statsgymnasium and the role of the self-taught tutor.

Expectations:

1. The self-taught course at Struer Statsgymnasium is organized and structured with guidance from the school-appointed self-taught supervisor. Lessons are scheduled by the school in school hours to support the students and the responsibility rests on Struer Statsgymnasium to register the student for exams.
2. The handling of oral and written examinations rests entirely on Struer Statsgymnasium.
3. In addition to the school-appointed self-taught supervisor, the student is required to have a tutor in their own self-taught language.
4. Students and tutor will set up their own schedule for e.g. Skype tuition based on needs and requirements. Moreover, students and their tutor will plan the consultation and feedback for written assignments and mock exams.
5. The tuition fee will be agreed between student and tutor.
